RECORD RAILWAY RUN TO CANTON IN 2 HRS. 15 MINS.

On her first trial run from Kowloon to Canton on Tuesday, the "Taipei Belle", latest motor coach addition of the Kowloon-Canton Railway, completed the journey in two hours and fifteen minutes, thus creating a new record in running time for all railways in China.

The "Taipei Belle", carrying Capt. R. D. Walker, M.C., Manager of the K.C.R., and many local residents as passengers, left Kowloon Station at 7.45 a.m. She passed Shum Chun at 8.15 a.m., Sheung Shui at 8.49 a.m. and arrived at Canton at 10 a.m. The speedy coach covered the distance in 40 minutes less than the express train and her average speed was 50 miles per hour.

Passengers aboard the "Taipei Belle", besides Capt. Walker, were the following:—Mr. Eu Tong Sen, the well-known local millionaire, and Mrs. Eu Tong Sen, Mr. Tang

HASTENING CHINA'S DEFENCE PLAN

"Against Foreign Aggression"

Canton, Oct. 15.
Owing to the increasing tension and unreliability of the friendly approaches of the Japanese authorities, and the blustering and bellicose attitude of the Japanese soldiers, who are being constantly landed for the so-called protection of their nationals, the Central Government is most anxious and concerned, and is taking steps to hasten the completion of the defence measures of South China.

Regarding the Swatow area, where alarming reports have recently been received from the local authorities, it is reported that General Yu Han-mow, Commander-in-Chief of the Fourth Route Army, has decided to send General Li Han-wen and his army to take the place of Commander Wong To of the 157th Division, who is at present stationed there.

It is reported that General Li Han-wen and his army will reach Swatow sometime to-day, and will immediately make the necessary preparations against foreign aggression.

How serious the situation is considered to be, may be gathered from the fact that the Swatow authorities have instructed the inhabitants to have in readiness black cloth for the purpose of covering windows and lights in the event of air raids by the enemy.

It is also reported that all dealers in iron-ware and hemp bags have been ordered to report their stocks to the local Government in preparation for eventualities.

All important points of the city are heavily guarded by troops, and roads and temporary bridges have been constructed in readiness for street fighting.

It is said that certain foreigners will be leaving at the end of this month.

Mr. Chen Tung-yuk, the Mayor of Swatow, left for Canton yesterday to report to Civil Governor Wang Mo-chung and General Yu Han-mow the seriousness of the situation, and to ask for instructions.

Court "Breeze" Chinese Marriage Customs

A "breezy" dispute between counsel on the subject of Chinese customs and laws featured a case heard before Mr. E. Hmasworth at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday afternoon when Au Yeung-Yuk, 21, of 412 Portland Street, charged her husband with desertion, wilful neglect and persistent cruelty.

Mr. C. d'Almada e Castro appeared for the complainant, and the Hon. Mr. M. K. Lo for the defendant.

After the complainant's examination was concluded, her husband told the Court the circumstances relating to the marriage. He was already married, he stated, when he took the complainant as his second wife.

In reply to a question by Mr. d'Almada, the defendant said that the complainant knew all about his first wife when the second marriage was contracted. He was further questioned regarding the marriage custom under which the complainant became his "equal-wife" and not "kit-fai" as she claimed herself to be.

The defendant added, "I was married in the same way as Dr. Sun Yat-sen."

The case was adjourned till Tuesday, October 20, in order that the defendant's first wife and mother might appear to give evidence in Court.

ZBW STUDIO BROADCAST SURPRISE Miss Shirley McLeod On The Air

"This is ZBW, Hong Kong calling. We have a surprise for our listeners this evening," said the announcer last night.

And the surprise was Miss Shirley McLeod, the winner of the essay that gained her a free trip from Australia to Hong Kong aboard the s.s. Changtze.

The broadcast took the form of an interview.

Replying to questions, the Australian girl said that even if she had not won the prize she would have come here just the same. Everybody here had been most kind to her during her delightful stay.

Asked for her opinion regarding modern girls, Miss McLeod replied that she could not mention too many superlatives about them.

Miss McLeod informed listeners that she had visited Canton during the past week and had found Canton to be a place more like China than Hong Kong.

Miss McLeod remarked that she was astonished to learn that she had won the prize for after writing her essay she sent it in and thought nothing more about it.

Miss McLeod refused to compare Sydney harbour with Hong Kong harbour, but added, in conclusion,

"KING OLAF" Elgar's Brilliant Work Sung

Hong Kong music lovers who attended last night's performance of "King Olaf" by the Hong Kong Singers were thrilled at the beauty of the musical work of the great English composer, Sir Edward Elgar. Exuberant leaps of melody and nervous chromatic twists of harmony comparable only with that of Wagner, brilliantly described the saga of King Olaf. The chief characters portrayed by the voices were vividly alive, accompanied by glowing orchestration.

Wagnerian influence was noticeable in the rich buoyant orchestration while the treatment of the voices made the work a joy to hear. The scope for tone colour was tremendous and great demands were made on the versatility of the Hong Kong Singers, and from beginning to end there was not a dull moment.

The programme opened with the Fantasia and Fugue in C minor, one of Bach's well-known compositions, a brilliant piece of orchestral virtuosity treated in a somewhat restrained manner. Its listeners were carried away with its exuberance. This was followed by four unaccompanied works that she fully intended to return to the Colony at a future date. "Goodnight everybody, and thank you so much," she said.

LONDON GOES "GOLD"

An animated scene in famous Throgmorton Street a few weeks ago when brokers there, as here, became enthusiastic about the "gold boom."

A HAPPY VALLEY WINNER

No wonder Mr. N. Bantz smiled as he rode in Electron after winning the Canberra Handicap at Happy Valley last Saturday in such great style. The second horse is Bobbiak Star. More pictures of personalities at the races will appear in the "Daily Press" to-morrow. SWING OF THE MODEJackets Still More
Jaunty

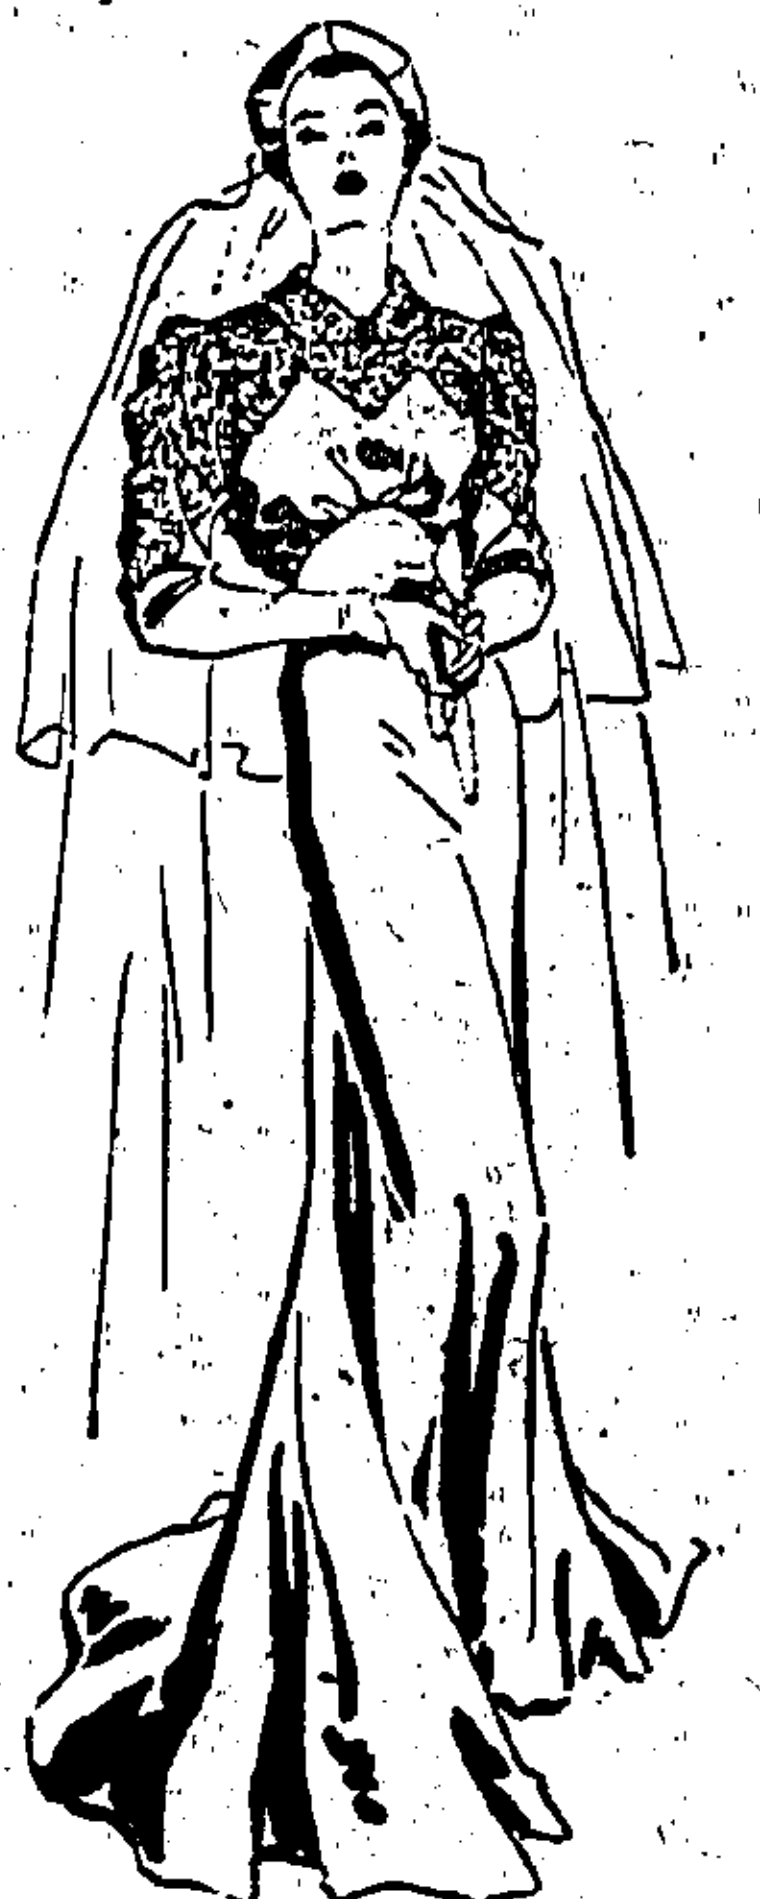

The latest swinging silhouette is creating a fashion sensation. Women are loth to depart from the straight, clear line of former seasons. A joyous, swinging air is noticeable in the latest short skirt, tunic and jacket.

This movement is familiar to those who recollect the godel and gored skirts of the early part of this era, and the elegance of the pleated tunic and full jackets worn by well-dressed women of Edward VII's day.

In those days it conveyed a hint of age and opulence and a superfluity of fabric, especially in the jacket. It is a triumph of modern dress design that the fashionable swinging tunic and jacket have a youthful new elegance.

The belt to the most tailored skirt or blouse is colourful and decorative. The dress parades are full of delightful surprises. A practical neutral-coloured suit in wool or tweed has large leather buttons to match a soft belt mixed with a brightly coloured patent, complete with gloves and handbag. The plainest felt, Tyrolean hat has some absurd buckle to brighten it. A veil can appear on country headgear. Belts are now accepted one of the most important accessories. For the country the roughest gloves and hard-wearing shoes a new chic.

Fashion displays the most drastic changes in neck finishes. Every style of dress or blouse fastens high up to the base of the throat, even if it falls a little open with a light scarf drapery in front. Peter Pan collars show an inner scarf. A roudau of the fabric of the dress, half an inch wide, can complete the neck and match the edge of corsage and skirt hem.

GREEN IS FASHION'S
LUCKY COLOUR

Green will be popular but there is yet another new green in this coming season of greens. That green would be a popular favourite has been known for some time, and in addition certain exclusive houses are proposing to feature curious greens that can only look their best in expensive fabrics.

Soon we shall see a new colour that is chic but not particularly cheering. A clever designer, however, enlivens it to beauty. This is seaweed green, which tends to the darker olive shade. By itself it is possibly a bit depressing, but with a dash of rich damask red it becomes alive and bright. Quieter tones are always best for the town tailor, and the charm of seaweed green for such purpose is great.

NEWS

On the right is a tweed bell-shaped skirt, walking along with a flared skirt opening up the front, with a built-up loosely-fitting waist-line. In the centre you see the new bustle and full skirt with a slight train. The stranded shoulder straps are new too. The tunic dress of stiff silk has a high waist-line and full lampshade skirt over a slim-fitting ankle-length skirt. Another version of the tunic is created for daytime wear, sketched on the left. It is slim-fitting over a skirt of the same material. Pockets create the squared effect on the slim-fitting skirt, which has four inverted pleats.

NEW VELVET PILL-BOX

Bullion Motifs

The latest hats bring one thrill after another. Almost anything is smart so long as it is picturesque. There are the big brim with a short crown, the high or moderately high crown with or without a brim. Empire military pill-box, forage shape, and styles that smack of Charles IX. berets, as well as a Russian peasant style breaking away from the ordinary Cossack fitting of black astrakhan. Each style is a brilliant conception.

Trimblings include bird's breast plumage, quills, flowers, velvet and Royal insignia, such as bullion braided designs, crowns and shields.

The shady brimmed hat with inch high crown came as a great autumn surprise in black felt with a long single quill slanting down one side or a setting of convolvulus blooms rising above rosettes of green velvet. This motif set at the side of the crown emphasises an all-round sloping brim faced beneath with the green velvet. An old-fashioned grouping consists of tuchslas, delphinium sprigs, rosebuds and common asters, mixing purple, red, blue, pink and yellow all over the top of a little black pill-box shape which is given a veil.

Pill-boxes vary to bigger types which curve or slant slightly out as they rise up from head fittings to those of military cast with fantasy, cuffs applied or miniature peaks shaping flat on to the forehead. They are in black felt or velvet, with bullion embroidery spraying designs on to cuffs or merely round the form when forehead peaks appear. An interesting military forage sloping shape of blue felt appears with a bullion spray of silver along one side of the crown.

The black velvet hat with distinctive brimming is a Paris trend. One of the latest Louise Bourbon models is of Russian inspiration with a cuff showing a gold bullion embroidered spray. The other is a new pill-box with a green feather curling above a silver bullion crown.

These embroideries appear again on a pot-shaped high-crowned Russian toque that slants backwards because it is worn off the forehead, a fact which applies to almost all Louise Bourbon's brimless toques. Some of them have diadems rising in ancient Russian peasant manner beyond the forehead, which is covered by a mesh work of the fabric.

It is an interesting idea for smart dress occasion, with diadems of flowers and one shaped from black astrakhan. This appears on a black perruque fitting of black satin tied in a knot above the nape. Elongated boat-shaped black felt and velvet hats slope down on to the forehead from backs which rise under a massing together of velvet rosettes in Old Master tonings. Bird's breast plumage emulates these rosettes in other colours, in mixtures such as rust, pink and orange, or rust, blue and fuchsia red. Both feathers and colours are of American Indian inspiration and form mixtures at fronts or backs of felt toques.

Among the latest news from Mme. Suzy is a Charles IX. beret of black felt which clears the brow and drops back on the head in tam o' shanter mood from a gros-grain band. A bow of the gros-grain is posed at centre front, which rises slightly before the shape dips almost to the nape line. Success is written all over it!

Draped turbans culled from the Italian School are of Florentine inspiration in white velvet or black antelope with gathered rolls that puff out beneath flat tops. An Italian page boy mufin cap is on the way, too, and looks smart in black velvet with a short line of fringe frayed from red gros-grain posed at one side front. Felt bonnet shapes of peasant persuasion also indicate the brimless trend for toques worn straight on the head and off the brow. These are interesting shapes with fairly high fittings, pinched, as it were, to form a waist in the middle, which is given a narrow band of felt tied in a bow at centre front. It has been said that "hats of all nations" are to be seen. Different types certainly do make up an unexpected autumn and winter quota.

GOWNS OF SILK
CORDS

The fringe frock has been making a tentative bid for favour for some time. Now Paris is launching the gown composed entirely of silken cord, thousands of yards of which have gone into the making. True to the Grecian line, a gown of cords in an olive-green shade hangs with classic grace from the crossover bodice and little cape—all fashioned of the same material. A reaction from the recent be-trimmed dresses is suggested by this latest style, which is devoid of all additional adornment. Fabric and the line provide the key to the success of the most original and striking evening fashions of the day.

SKIRTS ARE IN THE NEWS

Skirts are much to the fore in fashion news. Straight or pleated skirts have been so much worn in past years that everyone is welcoming the changing styles.

The fashionable materials have a great effect on skirt styles. For instance the stiff taffeta and "metal" materials have inspired the designers to create the full skirts and "lamp-shade" tunics.

The becoming flared skirt is popular and seen on both coats and frocks. This type of skirt is simple to make. It hangs well in both woollen and silk fabrics. Woollen materials wear better if made up in this rather loose style, since a straight tight line soon loses its shape in wool.

The bell-shaped skirt is a flared skirt on more exaggerated lines—even to the extent of having folds. The tweed skirt on the extreme right of this sketch is made on these lines.

Pleats are always smart, and wide, inverted box pleats are making their appearance in tweed skirts. Frocks for formal wear contain finely-pleated skirts, or a panel of pleating about six inches wide from neck to hem.

The pleated skirt shown in this sketch is cut on slimming lines. Since the skirt is straight, patch pockets appear at the hips to give the necessary squared effect.

Waist-lines, both for day and evening wear, are slightly high and are well-fitting. Many frocks are higher at the waist-line in front, or built up above the waist all round.

The new skirt lengths are interesting. They are shorter for walking, the correct length being about six inches below the knee. Afternoon dresses are rather longer than this. Evening frocks are often higher in front than at the back, forming a train, but evening skirts are ankle length.

Draped skirts are to be worn in the evening, as well as small trains. The bustle has staged a come-back, although in a different form. You see one in the sketch which consists of two frills, one small one at the waist and another underneath, which lies just above the hips.

Last year's straight evening frocks can be cut down to make skirts, over which you can wear one of the enchanting new tunics.

Tunics for evening wear can either be made in the form of a coat of velvet of lamé, or in the frock style as shown here. The waist-line should be tight and high, and the skirt very full; it should be made of stiff silk, and reach almost to the knees.

Tunics are very smart for daytime wear, too. These should not be very full. Many are tight and slit up the sides or up the front. They can be created in almost any material, and worn as dresses or coats.

Select your skirt lines carefully, bearing these points in mind, so that the styles of your new autumn and winter clothes are just a little ahead of fashion and not dragging behind.

Mrs. Pearce and Mrs. White at the race meeting at Happy Valley last Saturday.

DIRECTOIRE STYLE DINNER SUIT

Hooded Burnous Capes

Informal dinner Directoire styles are charming. Long skirted tailored smoking jacket suits are of white, velveteen. These not only look smartly simple, but different from all others that have been produced up to date. They come from Vionnet, who has taught women to understand the science of bias cuts. Slender bias ground-length skirts and jackets close over blouses of a dense colour to match the tone of brown and black caped cloaks.

One instance shows the cloak smoothly fitted round the shoulders and falling straight in length over the white. It is in black broadcloth, and the white velveteen jacket reveals a high-necked blouse of black satin with little short sleeves.

Directoire aspects on informal dinner gowns are straight broadcloth skirts, cut-away coats with backs effecting ground-length tails, and vestee jackets fashioned in the short-waisted double-breasted long-sleeved type of the period. These are made of silk Ottoman and cover satin blouses of matching colour, such as pale blue with black. Variations show these styles without vestee jackets and only blouse, one being made on the masculine shirt trend in white satin on to which the skirt rises like a corselet skirt by a black patent leather belt.

Belts for the first time this season are given importance in rather broad leaf design tracings or stencil cuts on black patent, and also white kid belts for evening gowns and others of gold blistered lame.

Full-length cloaked capes of black broadcloth sway a cut-away Directoire mood over light pastel coloured mat crepe evening gowns or a new smooth bias unbelted outline with Dolman sleeves to corselets. Colours change from black to purple cloth and rust red duvetyne for the new burnous cape, draping into a hooded swathe at the back and tied at front neckline by matching coloured silk cords.

These burnous capes sway gracefully down towards the back, where they finish at half or full length. The rust duvetyne outline strikes quite a special contrast on a light electric blue cloth gown with a rust belt and link button fastening to high front neckline.

Burnous drapes, for evening gowns are effective, swathing the waistline from diagonal décolletages above draped skirts. Draped skirts are slender to ground length with graceful panels rising up from either side of the back hemline to become absorbed in the corselet.

Evening gowns of black velvet may be slender of wide hemmed to ground length, but are always smoothly draped round waists, which rise at the back in a flat corselet movement curving on to the bare body. In one instance this fitted up open backed corselet is belted by one of the leaf traced black patent belts. The line is of slender bias cut and revealed from under a long white velveteen tailored coat with black velvet revers.

This type of form fitted coat vies with Directoire and burnous cape movements. It appears again tailored from broadtail as well as broadcloth, with scarlet linings, to match evening gowns of Dolman sleeved corselet persuasion.

PARIS FASHIONS

New Flowered
Hats

Louise Bourbon's new hats go against the tradition that flowers cannot be worn in the winter. She puts all the flowers of the herbaceous border on little felt shapes, and trims velvet hats with green velvet "choux." A small black felt toque has as a crown a mass of daisies, asters, fuchsias, pink rosebuds, and a tip of larkspur. Over the head and front of another felt that which is turned back from the face is a deep band of chenille net trimmed with dahlias, asters, and a gladiolus.

Feathers and embroideries are also used as trimmings, as when a black velvet "Quaker" bonnet is worked in front with embroidery or black silk, gold thread, and gilt sequins. The little black velvet pillbox hat is also worked in coloured silks and gilt thread. All the colours are vivid, whether of flowers, embroideries, or feathers.

A tam o'hanter is worked in bright reds and blues. Yellow and flame-red wings trim a big black felt hat. A beret is trimmed with bunches of brickred and mauve violets. Little bonnets are trimmed with many-coloured flowers or feathers shaped like flat halos. Flights of bright little birds trim velvet toques. Coronets of grebe feathers are worn as hats. Violet and old rose velvets are united in big rosettes to trim black felt hats. Long lace veils drape toques and cloches. A little cap of crinkled crepe, worked all over with little brown and green woollen knobs, has a long pheasant feather at the sides and is trimmed at the base by a bow and ends of green wool. A crescent-shaped felt is worn with the points set one over the brow, the other at the back of the head; the upper and outer line of the crescent is edged with a fringe hats exact elaborate hairdressing.

Hitler On Himself In An Interview

Mr. D. M. Mason, a former Li- beral M.P., returned to London re- cently from Nuremberg, where he was one of Herr Hitler's guests at the Nazi Congress.
He told a reporter that, in an interview he had with the German Chancellor, Herr Hitler said: "I suppose that in England I am re- garded as the big bad wolf?"
"I replied, 'Not a bit of it,'" ad- ded Mr. Mason.
Mr. Mason said that he found Herr Hitler quiet and dignified, not bellicose.

"DOUBLE TENTH"

Celebrations At Swatow

On the occasion of the Silver Jubilee the Mayor of Swatow, Mr. Chan Tong Chiang, held a reception at the Municipal Offices at noon on 10th October, which was attended by the Consular Body, local officials and prominent Chinese Merchants.

In the evening the Chinese Members of the International Club gave a dinner party to their Foreign Members and other foreign residents at the Ming Fong Restaurant, and there were present some 120 people, and the utmost cordiality prevailed. The Mayor of Swatow proposed the health of His Excellency the Chairman of the National Government, Mr. Lin Seng, in a speech which was heartily applauded. Dr. T. C. Pan, Chairman of the International Club, proposed the health of the guests, to which Mr. C. G. C. Asker, the Commissioner of Customs, responded, and these speeches were also marked by a felicity of expression typifying the friendship existing between the Chinese and foreign communities in Swatow, to the cultivation of which the International Club, formed last year, has done and is doing so much.

After dinner all adjourned to the International Club in Kielet Road, where a varied programme of talkies and dancing was enjoyed until 2 a.m.

The presence of many Chinese ladies added much charm to the spontaneous gaiety that marked the celebrations on the "Double Tenth," and the evening is one that the foreign guests will always remember as quite the most delightful social function they have attended in Swatow.—From Reuters' Swatow Correspondent.

ILL-EDUCATED B.A.

People who are entitled to write B.A. after their names, and yet who have never read a real classic, were mentioned by Dr. Cyril Norwood, President of St. John's College, Oxford, in his presidential address to the annual Conference of the Association of Special Libraries and Information Bu- reaux at Oxford recently.
Dr. Norwood was stressing the great value of school libraries, and had a word of praise for novels and detective stories.
"I am inclined to think that a man is not well educated until he has read his books and mastered them," he said, "and until he knows what it is to consult au- thorities, and to collate the results and use them."
"It is a good thing at school to encourage the habit of reading, and there is much to be learned without knowing it, from novels and adventure stories, and even detective stories."
"And I am ready to be tolerant about this side of the school library work, for once you get the habit of reading, many unexpected developments are apt to follow."

NAZIFICATION OF SCHOOLS

Munich, Oct. 14.

The Bavarian Cabinet has an- nounced a "purge" of 1,676 Catholic sisters from cloister schools and their replacement by reliable Nazis.

The Catholic Church is vigo- rously protesting, alleging that this action is another violation of the concordat between Berlin and Rome, but the protest is unlikely to be effective as Herr Adolf Hitler's Minister of Educa- tion has already approved the edict.

This "nazification" of 400 schools will throw 600 teachers out of employment on January 1, and the remaining 1,000 affected will go on the relief roll throughout 1937.

The official reason for this action is that the schools are not paying sufficient attention to racial science and the biology of the Nazi state.—

DELIBERATE OFFENCE

Unemployed Gaoled
For False Pretences

OBTAINED MONEY FROM COOLIES

Ng Kim Wai and Cheung On, both unemployed, reappeared at the Kowloon Magistracy before Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen yesterday on charges of false pretences by obtaining money from coolies ostensibly for employment by the Hotel Cecil.

There were eight charges against them when they first appeared in Court, but Det.-Sgt. J. S. Riddell asked his Worship to proceed on only three.

The second defendant, Cheung On, pleaded not guilty to all the charges, and Det.-Sgt. Riddell accepted the plea. Defendant was discharged.

On October 1, said the prosecuting officer, Ng Kim Wai went to complainant and asked him to engage coolies for the Hotel Cecil. He said that he wanted thirty-five coolies and that they would have to make a deposit of $5 each.

Defendant received $42 in deposits from complainant. On the last visit, complainant became suspicious and sent one of the coolies to the Hotel Cecil, who was informed by the management that they had no vacancies.

Defendant was arrested, and a hotel chop with the receipt book was found at his domicile.

Mr. Macfadyen: It seems quite deliberate, and I sentence you to one month's hard labour on each charge.

PURSE PICKED FROM POCKET

Culprit Seen By Watchman

Lee Yin, 26, unemployed, appeared before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy yesterday for larceny of a leather wallet containing $15, and a Chinese $1 note.

The complainant was Chung Chat.

Inspector W. Mair said that about 4.10 p.m. on Wednesday, the complainant was walking along Cochrane Street near Queen's Road, with the defendant approached from the opposite direction.

When the defendant came abreast of the complainant he took out his handkerchief, and pretended to wipe his forehead, and at the same time extracted the wallet from the complainant's pocket. He was observed by a district watchman and was caught.

The complainant did not know that his pocket had been picked.

Defendant was sentenced to six weeks' hard labour.

WEEKLY RETURN OF TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

30 Persons Injured:
One Killed

In the Colony of Hong Kong including the Island, Kowloon and the New Territories during the week ending at 8 a.m. on Saturday, Oct. 10, there were altogether 51 traffic accidents, as the result of which 1 person was killed and 30 persons were injured.

The person killed, a Chinese male, died as the result of injuries received when he was knocked down by a motor lorry whilst walking in the roadway.

Of the persons injured, 18 were pedestrians who were either walking or running across the road and were struck by vehicles.

Two bus passengers and two tram passengers were injured while alighting from moving motor buses and moving tramcars respectively.

One driver and a passenger of a motor cycle combination were injured when their vehicle came into contact with a tree.

Three bicycle drivers, 1 ricksha driver, a tricycle driver and a private motor car passenger were injured as the result of collisions between vehicles.

Of the 51 accidents, 22 were collisions between vehicles; 22 were collisions between vehicles and pedestrians; and 7 accidents were due to other causes.

KING'S NEW TARTAN

King Edward has startled many people by reviving the ancient Balmoral tartan and wearing it instead of the Royal Stewart favoured by his father. However, there are more surprises in store. He has ordered for himself a kilt of Macdonald of Sleat's tartan, but with the colours of green and dark red reversed.

Although it sounds like the creation of a new tartan, it is actually not a new idea. Colours come second only to the sett in a tartan, and while the alteration improves the appearance of this particular design, it still remains Macdonald of Sleat. The King has no family claim to this tartan, but as chief of all the clans and their chiefs he can wear any "sett" he fancies.

that the deceased could not have had an unsound mind, as the evidence showed that he was quite sane.

The jury returned a verdict of suicide.

ATTEMPTED BRIBE

Opium Thrown Over
Prison Wall

TO WOMAN ADDICT IN GAOL

On October 13, Ho King, 36, took at a pork stall, 20, Sai Street, first floor, threw a package containing a mace of prepared opium into the yard of the Female Prison at Lai Chi Kok.

It appears that his wife was in gaol, and was an opium addict.

He was apprehended by Wardress Farid to whom Ho offered a bribe of $3.01, which was refused.

He was then arrested. Appearing before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday the defendant was fined a total of $40 with the alternative of seven weeks' hard labour.

The $3.01 was placed in the Poor Box.

OPIMUM IN SHOE

Found with possession of raw opium in his shoe, which had a false sole, Ng Tong, 32, unemployed, was brought before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy yesterday.

The defendant was arrested at the Wink Lok Street Wharf, Connaught Road Central.

R. O. Grimmit prosecuted.

Defendant was fined $250 with the alternative of three months' hard labour.

SUICIDE ATTEMPT

A woman, Tam Chak-mul, aged 25 years, jumped into the harbour at Saigon Street in an attempt to commit suicide. She was rescued by a seaman, Lo Chan, from the Post Office launch, and was taken to the Kowloon Hospital.

ILLEGAL PAWNING

Appearing on bail before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday, Chan Sui, 47, unemployed, was bound over on a charge of illegally pawning 42 lengths of silk at Shaukiwan. Sub-Inspector Johnson prosecuted.

RETURNED DEPORTEE

Wanted To Borrow Money

His excuse that he had returned to the Colony in order to borrow some money to purchase food failed to convince the court when Chan Chun, unemployed, was charged before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy as a returned deportee. The accused told the court that he arrived in the Colony from Canton about two or three days ago and that he had told no one of this. The man was sentenced to three months' imprisonment.

ALLEGED INTIMIDATION

Chu Hing-tung, 34, tailor, Keung Ping-huen, 31, appeared before Mr. W. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy yesterday, charged with having intimidated Cheung Yu-tu, tailor, at Wanchai, with intent to cause him to do an act which he was not legally bound to do, namely, to subscribe to a certain association, and at the same time having beaten and assaulted the complainant. Detective-Sergeant C. Downman applied for a remand for 48 hours, which was granted.

YOUTH CAUTIONED

John Winch, unemployed, of no fixed abode, who gave himself up at the Mongkok Police Station on Wednesday after he had partaken of a meal at the Kan Lan Chuen Restaurant, 635, Shanghai Street, and without having any money to pay for it, reappeared before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday.

Defendant's brother was present in court and offered to give him another chance after Mr. Himsforth had severely cautioned the youth who promised to behave himself in future. He was bound over in the sum of $50 for one year.

COOK SCALDED

Ng Au-kam, 26, cook on the s.s. Prosper, was admitted to the Kowloon Hospital suffering from scalds received while the vessel was at Canton. Ng was carrying a pot of boiling water, when he slipped and fell.

SCHOOL FOR DEAF

Interesting Progress

CHAIRMAN'S REPORT

At a demonstration given by pupils of the Hong Kong School for the Deaf at the Munsang College Hall on Wednesday, the Chairman (Rev. Lee Kau Yan) read the following report:

Our School was started last September in the Hong Kong University Women's Hostel with six pupils—three boarders and three day pupils. One girl had been studying in the School for the Deaf in Chefoo. Her standard was higher than the others, so she was in the top class. Owing to the different dialects we speak in China, the girl had to drop her Mandarin, which she learned in Chefoo, and learn Cantonese. The middle class had four pupils who had learned a certain amount of characters, but were not able to make use of them. Now they are able to write composition and Diary.

On November 4, we had our first open day. The dedication of the school took place in the morning by Bishop Hall. In the afternoon the school was opened for inspection, when over 100 people attended.

The children were quite good at hand work, and with the co-operative effort of teachers and pupils, we were able to have a stall in St. Stephen's Girls' College sale of work, which was held in November. Christmas cards, animal toys and envelopes were sold, and we were able to realize $110 to help our school funds.

Our first Christmas Party was held on December 20.

HOSTEL FOR BOYS

In the beginning of Spring the hostel for boys was opened. The flat next door to the school was rented, and used as boys' hostel and school. Owing to the increasing number of pupils, it was necessary to make the change, and thus leave the rooms in the University Women's Hostel as girls' hostel. At that time the number of pupils had grown from 6 to 16, and by the end of the Summer term the number of pupils on the roll was 18.

The school was visited by the Inspector of English Schools, Mr. T. R. Rowell in April. He was very much interested, and pleased with the progress which the children had made.

Dr. R. A. de Castro Basto had kindly given voluntary medical inspection to the pupils. After special treatments a few of the pupils were able to hear slight sounds for the first time.

On June 5 a concert was held in the Great Hall of St. Stephen's Girls' College in aid of the School Funds. Through the kindness of our friends, we were able to realize $500.

SUBJECTS TAUGHT

All the subjects taught here are the same as in ordinary schools, special attention being given to lip-reading and speech. They learn to play the same games, and we have to thank the Principal of Fairlea School for lending us the playground every Wednesday and Saturday.

Besides ordinary lessons, they are taught to know our Heavenly Father, for though their physical hearing is lost, yet their spiritual hearing is not. Every alternate Sunday we have a Children's Service in School, and the other Sundays they go to church.

The children have not only improved in their study, but also in character.

STAFF THANKED

Now I will take the opportunity to thank the staff, and especially Miss Sum Yue Kiu, now Mrs. Lo, who gave us voluntary service since the school began. She has given us great help in teaching the children's handwriting. When the boys' hostel opened, Miss Chin Hon Kwon joined our staff. Thus we had three staff members:—Miss Chan Lai Fong, who had been to Chefoo for training, Miss Sum Yue Kiu and Miss Chin Hon Kwan. Then at the end of April Miss Sum had to leave us, and we were very grateful to Miss D. Wise, the Acting Principal of St. Stephen's Girls' College, who loaned us one of her teachers, Miss Chan Shuk Ching. Miss Chan helped to the end of the Summer term. Miss Griffin, a member of our Council, who had given us much help in all ways, went home on furlough in June.

At the end of the Summer holidays the school moved to its new premises. We have all settled down happily, and find the new school very convenient.

SUCCESSFUL CABARET GALA AT HOTEL CECIL

Aeroplane Fund To Benefit

CHARMING DANCE PARTNERS

Merriment prevailed in the ballroom of the Hotel Cecil last night when a gala cabaret was presented by the film industry of Hong Kong and South China in aid of funds for the purchase of aeroplanes in honour of Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek's birthday.

The function, which will be repeated this evening, attracted a large crowd all of whom availed themselves of the opportunity of dancing with the leading ladies at present acting in Chinese films, who served the public as dance partners. The ladies were most attractive and their gorgeous gowns set against a background of colourful decoration lent brilliance to the surroundings. There were about sixty of these ladies.

The ballroom was splendidly decorated, model aeroplanes, symbolic of the proposed gift to China's leader, dominating in the attractive design. Gaily coloured lights, festoons and streamers were also in abundance.

Outside the building, flanking both sides of the doorway, model aeroplanes, painted white, hung from each archway between the pillars extending the full length of the building in Chater Road and in Ice House Street. Huge signboards, bearing white Chinese characters painted on orange coloured backgrounds, describing the function, were also displayed.

Dance music in the ballroom was supplied by a foreign band and the dance partners included Misses Wu Tip Ying, Tam Lan Hing, Li Yee Nin, Lam Mui Mui and several others.

Leading directors dispensed with the megaphone and took on the roles of cloak-room boys while scenario writers and cameramen together with the actors performed the duties of waiters.

Everyone joined in the fun wholeheartedly and the function was voted an unqualified success. Dancing was commenced at 7 p.m. and continued until 1 a.m.

"MILESTONES"

We have received from Imperial Airways (Far East) Limited an interesting booklet entitled "Milestones" dealing with the development of Imperial Airways and its Associated Companies since 1924.

On behalf of the school I would like to thank our friends who have helped us to bring happiness to the lives of many deaf children, and especially Mr. Fung Fuk Tin, who gave us the first donation to start the school, and also all the Chinese and English friends who generously donated from time to time, and made it possible for us to carry on our work.

CORRESPONDENCE

HONG KONG A.D.C.

(The Editor, "Hong Kong Daily Press.")

Sir,—May I by your courtesy remind a too-forgetful public of the recurring difficulties experienced by the Hong Kong A.D.C. in accommodating all its friendly patrons who have a preference for Last Night performances.

More than a hundred applications were received in excess of the seating capacity of the theatre on the last night of "Lovers Leap" whereas the earlier performances were not well attended.

The first night of a play is generally the best night from the point of view of the interested playgoer, but in any case early booking is necessary if disappointment is to be avoided. I specially urge this now because I have received an exceptionally large number of applications for advance bookings, that I cannot of course deal with until booking opens for the public at Anderson Music Co., Ice House Street on 19th October.

"Night Must Fall" is hailed by the critics—I think that is the correct expression—as the outstanding success of recent years. We are fortunate in having a well-balanced and experienced cast of amateur players, most of whom are new to the Colony. We modestly but confidently anticipate that this production will worthily uphold the proud tradition of the A.D.C. handed down to us over ninety-three years of uninterrupted activity.

We do not doubt that the public will support us in the generous way it has always supported the A.D.C., but we do hope that the disappointing experience of last-minute efforts to get seats for the Last Night will not be repeated in our forthcoming production.

For those who care to send their requirements to me I shall be glad to obtain for them the best reservations available on the date the booking opens.—Yours faithfully,

C. CHAMPKIN,
Hon. Sec.

DOUBLE PENSIONS FOR OLD SOLDIERS

Gigantic Proposal Made By Legion Delegates

LESSENING UNEMPLOYMENT

Double pensions for old soldiers at an additional cost to the Exchequer of £100,000,000—was suggested at a conference of the delegates of the Kent British Legion Branches held at Deal recently. The following resolution, proposed by the Hythe Branch, was carried unanimously for submission to the National Conference: "That every ex-Service man who has a campaign to his credit and is not in receipt of any other pension should, when he draws his old-age pension at the age of 65, be entitled to £1 per week instead of 10s.

Captain G. Few, proposing the resolution, said: "I think that any man who had the courage to join the Service and serve in a campaign should have the right to £1 per week. Such a scheme will probably help the unemployment cause, as some old soldiers receiving £1 a week would be willing to give up other work and make way for younger men."

The chairman, Mr. C. G. Larkin, of Maldstone, pointed out that there were about 200,000 war-time ex-Service men in the country.

DANCE

A Dance will be held at the Sailors' Home and Seamen's Institute to-night (Friday) commencing at 9 p.m.

FELLOWSHIP MEETING

The weekly St. Andrew's Women's Fellowship meeting was held at the Church Hall yesterday afternoon. Tea was served in the lawn and games were played in the Hall.

Later Mrs. Edwards, wife of Major Edwards gave an address "Japanese Inns." There were 40 members present, at the meeting yesterday.

EKINS SECURES PLACE ABOARD DELAYED PLANE

Final Long Hop Towards America

LEAVES AT DAWN

H. R. "Buddy" Ekins, former United Press manager in Manila, was scheduled to continue his world-girdling jaunt over established air lines aboard the Hawaiian Clipper early on Oct. 12.

The giant Pan American Airways flying boat, already three days behind schedule because of adverse weather, was poised for the take-off for Guam at daybreak. The delayed flight of the Clipper proved a blessing in disguise for Ekins.

Permission by Pan American Airways for Ekins to board the Hawaiian instead of waiting for the China Clipper at present en route to Manila was expected to enable the lean Scripps-Howard reporter to complete history's first commercial air journey around the world in approximately 18 days.

Entering the home stretch of his air race, Ekins was virtually certain to beat his rivals, Leo Kierman, New York Times reporter, and Miss Dorothy Kilgallen, correspondent, for the Hearst newspapers, by about a week. The trio left New York on September 30.

Ekins prepared to depart for Guam, Wake, Midway, Honolulu, Alameda and New York after remaining a day and a half in Manila, longest stop on his hurried pioneer trip. Manila gave him an enthusiastic welcome which permitted him to catch little sleep in the meantime.

The veteran United Press war correspondent spoke on Sunday morning over KZRM in a radio-cast which was picked up by the National Broadcasting Company and rebroadcast over a nationwide network in the United States.

LEAVES HOTEL

Ekins prepared to leave the Manila Hotel at 2 a.m. for the Pan American air base at Cavite. When seen by a Bulletin reporter about 7 p.m., Ekins had just got up from a few hours' sleep but he submitted cheerfully to being questioned about his trip.

The purpose of the race, he said, was to make a trip around the world entirely by commercial airplanes. He has used three air lines so far. He travelled from New York to Frankfurt-am-Main on the Zeppelin Hindenburg, and from there to Athens by way of Vienna aboard a KLM (Royal Dutch Airline) plane. He continued using the same line to Batavia and there he changed to a KNILM (Royal Netherlands Indies Airways) plane which brought him from Batavia to Manila on Saturday afternoon by way of Balikpapan and Zamboanga.

PILOTS PRAISED

"On this flight I think we have been through all sorts of weather," he said. "In spite of the speedy way the trip has been accomplished, it was in no sense harassing. My companions showed no apprehension as though we were traveling on trains and automobiles." Ekins had words of the highest praise for the pilots as well as the planes.

This flight should serve to concentrate interest on the possibility of making Manila the aviation hub of the Orient, Ekins stated. If the contemplated extension of the Dutch air line to Manila materialized, Manila would be about a week by air transport from both the United States and Europe, he pointed out.

Ekins has been to many countries since he left Manila late in 1930. Last year he stayed in four continents as United Press correspondent. Among his assignments were covering the Sino-Japanese war and the Italo-Ethiopian conflict.

"I am sorry my stay in Manila has been so short," he said. "I have lived in a lot of places but outside of the United States I like Manila best. I have a lot of friends here whom I have not been able to see."—Manila Bulletin.

EVOLUTION OF LIFE

Interesting Talk By Dr. A. Fung

Tracing the evolution of Life from its original stage to the present day from the theosophical point of view, Dr. A. Fung presented a very interesting lecture to members of the Hong Kong Theosophical Society at the Manuk Lodge, Chater Road, yesterday evening. He pointed out that Evolution explained the transition of Life from the aquatic to the terrestrial, and terrestrial to the astral stages. A few facts were marshalled by the speaker in outlining "Man's Ancestry," the subject of his talk.

Dr. Fung demonstrated his talk with a chart illustrating the seven chains of the earth scheme and their formations. He stressed the controversy between science and theosophy in their own explanations of the origin of Life and described each stage through which Life progressed and developed into animal forms. The human race, he said, had several sub-races and the most interesting of them was during the fourth stage.

TERRIBLE CATASTROPHE

The existence of the Atlantis continent was substantiated by evidences which science itself has produced in the flora and fauna that such a land existed but which was broken up and immersed under water by a terrible catastrophe. The peoples of this lost race were gigantic men, handsome in features and possessed of strength with which a man of to-day might easily break a bar of steel in two. Literally, they had nerves like steel and skin like rock, and they were almost immune from feeling from outward causes. Black magic, Dr. Fung revealed, brought about the fall of the civilization on the Atlantis and natural causes then completed its destruction. The speaker carried his listeners to the future stage of Life and stated that during this period the mind would be developed "in a race of supermen."

At the conclusion of his address, a vote of thanks was called for Dr. Fung from the members of the Society who were reminded that the next lecture on this subject would be held next Thursday, October 22, when Mr. John Russell would lead a discussion on "Man's Relations to the Animals."

SPANISH MOROCCO AUTONOMY

Tangier, Oct. 14. Self-government for Spanish Morocco was foreshadowed by General Del Lano, the insurgent leader at Seville, when speaking from the radio station there.

General Del Lano said a plan was being studied for giving complete autonomy to the Spanish zone in Morocco, Spain reserving the right of military intervention for the defence of the country.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

Paris, Oct. 14. Full autonomy for Spanish Morocco has been promised in a broadcast speech by General Queipo de Llano, according to a report received here from Tangier. Spain however, the general said, still reserves the right of military intervention for the purpose of defending the territory. The speech was broadcast a second time in Arabic.—Transocean News Service.

were Pan American's Personnel Director Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney and his wife, President Juan, Treasurer R. A. Lord, Executive Trippe and his wife, Secretary, Committeeman Graham Grosvenor. Mrs. Whitney will take a steamer to Honolulu where the Clipper will await her arrival for the remainder of the trip across the Pacific.

Matson Line officials said that the following had booked passage on the steamer Lurline, which is scheduled to arrive in Honolulu October 15, the date the Clipper is due to arrive there from Alameda, Calif.:

Mrs. Whitney, Mrs. Trippe, Mrs. W. G. McAdoo, E. O. McDonnell, a member of the Pan American executive committee; Grosvenor; Thomas Beck, publisher of Colliers Weekly; E. R. Swazey, vice president of the American Weekly; Lord; and James Stahlman, publisher of the Nashville Banner.

NEW TELEVISION WONDER

Events Can Be "Filed" And Used Again

In future it will be possible to televise events and "file" them for retransmission at a later date.

Baird engineers have prepared this latest form of apparatus for the regular B.B.C. television programmes which will be radiated shortly. Experts at Alexandra Palace recently saw a demonstration.

One of the biggest problems the B.B.C. have to face is the high cost of good television programmes. By means of the Baird intermediate film system repetitions of outstanding items can be given at negligible cost, while variety of programmes will be helped by the fact that important acts can be recorded at convenient hours when they could not possibly appear in the television studios.

Scenes or persons can be filmed like an ordinary "movie" and then transmitted from Alexandra Palace to television receiving screens. But whereas films for ordinary cinema screening take several hours to develop and process, the new Baird apparatus does the whole job in 30 seconds.

THE ACTOR'S "SHADOW"

The whole time an event is being televised the intermediate film system will follow like a shadow, never quite catching up with it but immediately behind.

In this way an actor, for example, could watch himself acting a part while continually keeping slightly ahead of what he could see himself doing on a television screen!

By means of television "files" events in Great Britain can be sent to the Dominions and Colonies for retransmission from local televisions.

BRITISH NAVY INCIDENT

Case Of Insubordination Reported

London, Oct. 15.

A slight case of insubordination is reported on H.M.S. Guardian, the Atlantic Fleet netting vessel in the Forth, on October 1.

The Admiralty states that the incident, which only lasted a few minutes, consisted of reluctance and a short delay in falling in.

The normal routine of the ship was not affected.—Reuter.

INVENTIONS—WISE AND OTHERWISE

It is well within the realm of reasonable speculation that, if the peoples of the world to-day were to be asked, "What is your greatest fear?", the answer would be contained in the words—National Insecurity.

It is that feeling which in the past has driven nations to the point of hysteria when they have acted regardless of consequences, blind to the inevitable issues. Throughout the world one sees the somewhat harrowing spectacle of genius devoting its talents to the perfecting of inventions which, in far too many instances, are calculated to destroy rather than to create. If inventors were only concerned with thinking out new gadgets, life would be more peaceful and perhaps more interesting.

At the International Exhibition of inventions, which opened at the Central Hall, Westminster a few weeks ago, visitors were able to see rotary teapot stirrers, braces which could be converted into a belt, weed extractors which did not require stooping, and so on. This sounds and is innocent and amusing, but the dangers which this passion for new devices may incur were pointed out by Mr. A. P. M. Fleming in an address given recently to the Management Conference at Oxford:

"In these days of intensive research and equally rapid expansion of new scientific knowledge there is increasing danger of a new discovery replacing, almost overnight, processes or commodities which have involved enormous capital expenditure in plant and equipment."

We have learned this to our cost.

Britain led the way in railways, but that meant that our equipment was the sooner out of date. This has been the story of much of our industry. Countries which come later into the industrial field have all the benefit of new processes which it is often impossible for the countries that have developed them to use.

What is the solution?

"Birth control of ideas" may sound attractive, but is hardly possible. You cannot check the instinct to invent. "Planning," the solution offered by Mr. Fleming, may mean everything or nothing: may mean everything, that is, only if it is done internationally. And there is one field in which international control of inventions is absolutely necessary—in armaments.

The feverish race by every nation not to be a day behind any possible rival in the modernity of its armaments means the frequent scrapping of ruinously expensive and totally unproductive weapons of destruction.

Unfortunately it is still more profitable to design a Maxim gun than patent braces.

"JESUS OR BUDDHA?"

Reader's Constructive Criticism

"CHINESE WON'T TAKE CHRISTIANITY"

(The Editor, "The Hong Kong Daily Press.")

Canton, Oct. 13.

Dear Sir,—
There was a very interesting article published in your paper of even date entitled "Jesus or Buddha?" by Tse Tsan Tai Esq., and it is to this article that I should like to reply in the following, for it just fits into my studies of Chinese history and philosophy. And if you care to publish this, it might lead to some kind of a discussion of a more interesting kind than the ordinary stuff Hong Kong people seem to like to gossip about.

CONTENTIONS

The lives of Buddha and Jesus have much in common, but even an analogy does not justify any conclusions, but can only serve as interesting comparison.

I refer in the following to the article of Mr. Tse Tsan Tai "Buddha or Jesus," which hints at the possibilities of another development of Buddhism and Christianity had the dream of Ming Ti (Yung Ping) been interpreted in a different way, and had the special mission on which he set out been destined for Palestine instead of for India; in which case not Buddhism but Christianity would be predominant among Chinese religions nowadays.

With this assumption I cannot agree at all, and facts, together with history, disprove such a possibility. I admit that trivial incidents like the interpretation of the dream of Ming Ti have occasionally a far-reaching effect on the history of a country, and China is no exception. But in this case the writer must not forget two things, firstly the interpretation of Ming Ti's dream may not at all be the reason why the mission was sent to India, for Sze Ma Kwang (a Chinese historian of the middle ages) gives another explanation for sending this mission. He says that the younger brother of the emperor was a Taoist and had intercourse with ghosts, and having heard of the spirit of Buddha in India, he persuaded his brother, the emperor, to send a mission to bring Buddha's spirit to China.

Secondly, Buddhism was not introduced solely from India but also from other countries, where it had already gained a firm footing, and if the dream was really the reason for the expedition to India, then this expedition did not bring the Buddhist ideas back with them, but merely sponsored the introduction of this new religion and facilitated the work of the immigrating monks.

It is my conviction that Buddhism would have reached the same stage in China as it did, without the mission to India.

FUNDAMENTAL DIFFERENCE

The fundamental difference between East and West lies in the fact that we Westerners take life from the materialistic point of view, whilst the Chinese consider it organically—even if they are not Taoists (in the ancient sense of course); thus the Christian religion, which is a religion that came into existence among peoples with materialistic ideas, can never replace Buddhism, Taoism, (Mohammedanism) and Confucianism in China, lest it be changed and adapted to the Chinese mind as Matteo Ricci (died 1610) did already.

SURVIVED SUPPRESSION

Besides these contentions, we have the historical developments. Buddhism was suppressed in China just as cruelly as Christianity in Europe or later in China, but always Buddhism survived, without that any special missionary work was done by the Buddhists to such an extent as by the Christian churches. When Christianity came to China it had about equal treatment as Buddhism in the long run. Christianity even had the advantage of enormous sums of money spent on missionary work, especially during the very last years, but the result is rather disappointing and discouraging, for true Chinese Christians are a rare exception, and sometimes only exist in the imagination of their reformers. Much has been written and disputed about the work of the missionaries in China, but this shall not be discussed here. And then, we must not forget the Chinese point of view. A race that is wholly unchristian in its behaviour comes to them and tries to force upon them a religion that is not half as deep or kind as their own, viz. Buddhism or Taoism. I think it shows plainly what a sane people the Chinese are, and what sound ideas on life they have when they refuse to accept Christianity.

The result of Christianity in Europe is absolutely negative, so why bring this religion over to China and mess up this continent too? Japan was very wise and knew very well what they were doing by treating Christianity the way they did and do.

Every race has its country, its character and its peculiarities. Christianity may be quite alright in Europe, but for China it is like trying to make a Chinese eat cheese; he won't take it, and even a different interpretation of a dream of a Chinese emperor could not have changed this fact!

Yours faithfully,
H. GLATHE.

PARIS CABINET MEETING

Paris, Oct. 14.

At a Cabinet Council meeting held under the chairmanship of President Lebrun, Foreign Minister Delbos reported on the step taken by the German Charge d'Affaires with regard to Thorez' speech on Sunday.

The Cabinet Council thereupon studied the police report of the speech, in order to ascertain whether it justified the institution of an investigation. No mention of this is however made in the official statement issued, which merely states that Foreign Minister Delbos reported on the Geneva proceedings and the general international situation, and Minister of Interior Salengro on the strike situation.—Transocean News Service.

RECENT DISORDERS IN LONDON

London, Oct. 14.

The recent political disturbances in London, involving Fascists and Communists, were considered at the weekly meeting of the Cabinet to-day, at which Sir John Simon, the Home Secretary, reported on the matter of the wearing of political uniforms, but it is understood that no decision was taken. It is probable that a sub-committee will be established to examine and report on the question.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

DANZIG SOCIALIST PARTY

Danzig, Oct. 14.

In a statement giving the reasons for the dissolution of the Danzig Socialist party, the Danzig Chief of Police stated that during a recent search of the business headquarters of the "Danziger Volkstimme," the official organ of the party, a number of weapons and a quantity of ammunition were found hidden in the correspondence files.

Commenting on the "Socialist Sport Society," the Chief of Police declares that the name is merely intended to camouflage the real purpose of the Society. It is really a revival of the former "Workers' protective league" which was dissolved in 1931.—Transocean News Service.

DEMOCRACY IN CHINA

National People's Congress

Nanking, Oct. 15.

A proposal has been made for postponement of the National People's Congress, which is to usher in a reign of democracy in China, from November 12 for either one year or an indefinite period because the election of delegates cannot be completed due to the date being considered by a special committee appointed by the Central Kuomintang. A proposal that the congress be postponed for three months only was considered, but it is understood this has been ruled out. There is also a body of opinion favouring the holding of the congress on a scheduled date, but it is pointed out that in this event the Government would have to appoint delegates for several provinces where elections cannot be held in time.

The proposal to postpone the meeting this year is supported by arguments that sufficient time would thus be made available for completion of the elections. The proposal for indefinite postponement is based on the theory that the Central Kuomintang will then be in a position to convene the congress any time it deems convenient and necessary.

COMMITTEE PERSONNEL

The committee which is to report to the Central Executive Committee of the Kuomintang for final decision includes Mr. Chu Cheng, President of the Judicial Yuan, Mr. Chiang Tso-pin, Minister of Interior, Mr. Yeh Chu-sang, Secretary General of the Kuomintang, Mr. Chen Li-fu, veteran leader of the Kuomintang, and others.

According to the original programme of the Central Kuomintang, the object of the congress is to mark the handing over by the Kuomintang to the people of its political power when a constitutional government will replace the present one-party government.—Reuter.

POSTPONED INDEFINITELY

Nanking, Oct. 15.

It is officially announced that the National People's Congress convened for November 12 to adopt the new constitution has been postponed indefinitely, the reason given being the delay in the election of delegates from certain provinces.—Reuter.

SINO-JAPANESE RELATIONS

Negotiations To Be Resumed

Nanking, Oct. 15.

General Chang Chun, the Foreign Minister, and the Japanese Ambassador, Mr. Kawagoe, whose last interview took place on September 23 when the negotiations for readjustment of Sino-Japanese relations reached an impasse, are not likely to meet again until next week according to usual well-informed sources.

The delay in resumption of formal Sino-Japanese negotiations, however, does not indicate a deadlock or inactivity.

Since the interview between Mr. Kawagoe and General Chiang Kai-shek on October 8 which paved the way for resumption of negotiations, there have been almost daily meetings between Mr. Kao Tsung-wu, chief of the Asiatic affairs department of the Foreign Office, Mr. Suma, Japanese Consul General and Mr. Shimidzu, secretary to the Japanese Embassy.

The object of these meetings is to carry out preliminary exchanges of opinion with a view to preparing a general agenda for negotiations.—Reuter.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT EXERCISES

Canton, Oct. 15.

The Kwangtung aerial defence authorities have issued instructions to the Canton Police authorities to be prepared for the anti-aircraft exercises, which have been ordered to be carried out at Wong Fa Kong and the vicinity to-day.

It is said that the first, second and third sections of the anti-aircraft Gun Corps under the command of Ko Hon-chung, will also participate in to-day's exercises.

A number of aeroplanes of the Army Aviation Department will represent the enemy, and blank charges will be used by the anti-aircraft gunners.

All foreign aeroplanes are warned not to approach the area in which the exercises are being carried out.—Chinese Evening Press.

HU HAN MIN'S FUNERAL

Shanghai, Oct. 15.

It is reported that Dr. Wang Chung-hui, former President of the Nanking Judicial Yuan, and Judge of the International Court at the Hague, Mr. Kooy Ching and Dr. Sun Fo have been appointed by the Nanking Nationalist Government to attend the funeral obsequies of Hu Han-min, the late Kuomintang leader, and member of the defunct South-West Council, which is fixed to take place at Canton on the 25th instant.

Dr. Wang Chung-hui, Dr. Sun Fo and Mr. Kooy Ching will leave for Shanghai by steamer on the 21st instant, and another party of mourners will leave by the Canton-Hankow Railway.—Chinese Evening Press.

AUDIENCE WITH THE KING

Ministers Received

London, Oct. 14.

The Prime Minister Mr. Stanley Baldwin had an audience of the King at Buckingham Palace this afternoon. Lord Halifax, Lord Privy Seal, was another minister who was received by His Majesty following to-day's Cabinet meeting which lasted for two hours. There was a full attendance of ministers apart from the Lord Chancellor, who is indisposed, and the Secretary for Scotland (Sir Godfrey Collins) who died yesterday in Switzerland.—British Wireless.

DAMASCUS DUST ON COLONEL LAWRENCE'S GRAVE

Dust from Damascus, one of the last of the Eastern cities to fall to Colonel Lawrence and his conquering Arabs in the Great War, was sprinkled on the grave of "The uncrowned King of Arabia," in the quiet churchyard of Moreton, Dorset, recently.

A car drove up outside the churchyard and two or three persons alighted, one of them sprinkling the earth on to the grave from a bucket.—Reuter.

CROWDS CHEER ROOSEVELT

President Defends New Deal

Chicago, Oct. 15.

It is estimated that nearly 400,000 attended the vast demonstration of welcome to Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt who in an important speech stated that the New Deal saved the system of private profit and free enterprise after the national menace by concentration of wealth and power.

"We have come through the head of the struggle to preserve democracy and, where nations in other parts of the world lost that fight, we won it," he said.

The credit for national recovery belonged to the Government.

Searchlights raked the sky, fireworks exploded, and teeming thousands cheered as the President's car accompanied by twenty others drove in procession to the stadium where Mr. Roosevelt was nominated candidate for the presidency in 1932.—Reuter.

HENRY FORD CONDEMNS

Detroit, Oct. 14.

"I admire and believe in London, and hope he is elected," declared Mr. Henry Ford, famous motor magnate and practical social reformer to-day, after Mr. Alfred Landon, Governor of Kansas and Republican candidate for the presidency had visited him here to-day.

Landon, said Mr. Ford, was a business man who ate out of a dinner-bucket for years. "He still thinks with the men who carry dinner-buckets," the great industrialist added.

They had had in America enough of the New Deal; about all the country could stand, Mr. Ford asserted. He had been a special target for three years; but he did hold that against it. It was the fact that from the beginning the New Deal had been assisted by the worst form of capitalism, in an effort to destroy competition in the United States, to which he objected, he said.—Reuter.

KING'S BROADCAST TO EMPIRE

London, Oct. 14.

His Majesty's first act, as crowned King, will be to broadcast to the Empire.

Reuter learns authoritatively that the broadcast will take place early in the evening of Coronation Day, from a room in Buckingham Palace, after the King returns from the Coronation procession. It is understood that the broadcast will follow the lines of the late King George's Silver Jubilee broadcast.

In the circumstances, it is understood that His Majesty has decided not to broadcast at Christmas.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

DAILY DISORDERS IN MADRID

Food And Water Difficulties

Paris, Oct. 14.

Madrid is now the scene of daily disorders and demonstrations against the Government measures in rationing food and water, and preparing for the defence of the city, according to reports received here.

Serious disturbances broke out in the "Cuatro Caminos," when a great number of women assembled before the Ministry of the Interior to protest against the inadequate water supply and finally had to be dispersed by a detachment of militia. That Government officials are dissatisfied with the general attitude and spirit of the population, is indicated by a speech by the Foreign Minister del Vayo at a Socialist-Communist meeting at which he expressed disappointment at the lack of interest and enthusiasm shown especially by the youth in preparing to defend the capital.—Transocean News Service.

BELGIUM DROPS A POLITICAL BOMBSHELL

REVERSION TO PRE-WAR NEUTRALITY

Complete Reorientation Of Foreign Policy

NEW PROBLEM FOR THE POWERS

European Chancelleries Startled

London, October 15.

King Leopold's speech has startled European chancelleries with its sudden creation of a new political and strategic situation. In Geneva it is regarded as a complete reorientation of Belgium's foreign policy.

The King's references to the League, while not necessarily taken as implying any weakening of Belgium's attachment thereto, are regarded as distinctly savouring of a spirit of defeatism.

It is also clear that Belgium has repudiated the responsibility of ensuring the territorial integrity and political independence of any other nation.

PACTS DENOUNCED?

King Leopold's statement is regarded as tantamount to denunciation of the Locarno Pact, and the Franco-Belgian military understanding of 1920.

It is believed that Belgium is alarmed at the possibilities of the Franco-Soviet mutual assistance pact and is crying off her guarantee of the Franco-German frontier.

It is now felt that the meeting of the five Locarno powers will be more than ever necessary, but in the light of the Belgian attitude the basis of discussion will need to be profoundly modified.

FRENCH PRESS OUTCRY

In France the speech had the effect of a bombshell on the press, evoking an indignant outcry, regarding the move as seriously prejudicing hopes of a new Locarno understanding.

Pertinax declares that Belgium expunged herself henceforward from the chapter of security in international affairs and has thrown off the chains of international engagement without consulting anyone.

There is general apprehension as regards possible repercussions of the speech as the Franco-Belgian alliance was a long and important factor in French defence preparations, and it will now be necessary to continue the Maginot line of defence from the Belgian frontier to the sea.

BERLIN INTEREST

In Berlin the statement aroused considerable attention. The "Berliner Börsen Zeitung" declares it to be of fundamental importance to the future foreign policy of Belgium, but there is no other comment so far.

It is pointed out in Paris that even if Belgium withdrew from the League in strict accord with the new policy of neutrality, its obligations are such that the admittance of the right of any troops to pass Belgian territory is still binding for two more years.

A SEVERE BLOW

From the viewpoint both of British and French security, any return by Belgium to neutrality status would be a severe blow it is felt in diplomatic circles.

If Belgium is strictly neutral, staff talks between Belgium, France and Britain under the new Locarno Pact would be impossible.

Furthermore it would obviously be a violation of Belgium neutrality for British and French planes to fly over Belgian territory in the event of a European conflict.

Moreover, both Britain and France would be robbed of the advantage of being able to use Belgian air bases or sound detectors in an emergency.

KING'S STATEMENT

Reversion to Belgium's pre-war policy of neutrality was urged by King Leopold in an address to the first full meeting of the Cabinet over which he has presided since his accession to the throne.

"This policy must aim resolutely at placing us outside the conflicts

GERMANY AND LOCARNO

Objection To Soviet Participation

Berlin, Oct. 15.

Germany's reply to the British Locarno note has been delivered in London.

It is understood that it leaves open the way for further progress and reiterates willingness to co-operate in the conclusion of a Western Pact, but reaffirms objection to any attempt to draw the Soviet into the negotiations.

of our neighbours," the King declared.

King Leopold asserted that the Belgian policy must be strong enough to preserve Belgium from war from any source.

He pointed to the "proud example of Holland and Switzerland," and emphasised that it was solely to preserve Belgium from war, from whatever direction it might come, that the Belgian military system must be organised afresh.

"Our military organisation no longer meets the new possibilities of rapid invasion. We must remedy this defect," the King insisted.

PARIS TALK

Paris, Oct. 14.

King Leopold's pronouncement did not come as a complete surprise to French official circles.

M. Yves Delbos, the Foreign Minister, had a long talk yesterday with the Belgian Ambassador, who most likely communicated the Belgian policy to this official. Still it is felt that the Belgian decision and its wide implications, including its bearing on any new Locarno Treaty, must be studied most carefully before any opinion is voiced.

It is pointed out that although there is no definite Franco-Belgian defensive alliance, the General Staffs have worked closely together for defence purposes.

ARMY MEASURES

Brussels, Oct. 14.

A bill for increasing the Belgian army and fortifying the frontier was discussed in the Council of Ministers over which the King himself presided. The period of service for infantry was increased to 18 months and that for the other army branches to 12 months. For increase of frontier protection, 9 regiments will be stationed at the North-Eastern frontier. It is stated that the new plan will ensure a complete protection of the entire frontier. The bill has yet to be passed by Parliament, where an opposition from the Flemish Catholics and the Socialists is to be reckoned with. But it is believed that certain concessions will be made to them, and thus the opposition lightened, and the bill will become law.

KING LEOPOLD

THUNDERBOLT IN FRANCE

Government Awaiting More Details

(Hong Kong Daily Press) Special

Paris, Oct. 15.

The text of the speech of King Leopold to the Belgian Council of Ministers was not received until very late, but came as a thunderbolt. The completely unexpected nature of the Royal announcement was evident from the reaction in the Quai d'Orsay here, where it was stated that the Belgian declaration must be treated with calm and impartiality. The Franco-Belgian friendship, solidarity and brotherhood was beyond all doubt. Before the French Government could say any more, it was necessary to await the Belgian Government's communications, which it would doubtless make, concerning the significance and practical importance of the King's announcement.

MOVEMENT FORESEEN

There was no doubt that for some time past a distinct movement was observable for a return to the neutrality of Belgium which had existed before 1914. Belgium desired as before, to be a "guaranteed" and not a "guarantor" state but it was not yet clear whether this status was reconcilable with the obligations of the League Covenant. Switzerland has hitherto been the only nation whose neutrality was absolutely guaranteed, and the tenability even of this had several times been questioned in the League of Nations debates. In no case would the new Belgian attitude be considered as denunciation of the existing General Staff agreements between Belgium, France and England, since the neutrality of Belgium could only be guaranteed, if the three powers, in time of need, could act in concert.

In political circles it was pointed out that this independent Belgian attitude would seriously prejudice the signature of the Western Pact.

On Thursday morning the papers not only treat the Royal Belgian announcement prominently, but also deal with its profound effects on the European situation.

POLITICAL TRANSFORMATION

"Le Jour" writes that Europe will interpret the Belgian King's announcement as disavowal of the Franco-Belgian policy since 1920, or at least this will be the conclusion drawn by the opponents of France. But, the "Le Jour" continues, that is not the matter at issue. To-morrow, just as yesterday, Belgium will defend its Eastern frontier against all attacks, but now Belgium wants to pursue a purely Belgian policy.

"Le Journal" declares that the manifesto of the Belgian King denotes a great political transformation. Belgium declines all political unilateral obligations and resumes a policy of strict neutrality. The King not only proclaims the intention to reject all mutual assistance pacts, but also to set aside the Franco-Belgian treaty. One might therefore ask how far the national will of Belgium is reconcilable with Article 16 of the League Covenant.

The "Petit Parisien" states that a return to the status of 1914 certainly frees Belgium from mutual assistance obligations under the western pact.

COLD COMFORT FOR JARROW

March Not Approved By Government

London, Oct. 15.

Another form of organised marching, an example of which is that now being undertaken by the contingent from Jarrow with a view to drawing attention to the depression which that town has suffered since the war, was the subject of a communication published last night from 10 Downing Street.

It stated that in the opinion of the Government such marches can do no good to the causes for which they are represented. Such undertakings are liable to cause unnecessary hardships to those taking part in them and are altogether undesirable.

"In this country governed by a Parliamentary system where every adult has a vote and every area has its representative in the House of Commons to put forward grievances and suggest remedies, processions to London cannot claim to have any constitutional influence on policy. The ministers have therefore decided that encouragement cannot be given to such marches whatever their particular purpose, and cannot consent to receive any deputation of marchers although, of course, they are always prepared to meet members of Parliament."

The leader of the Jarrow marchers, who have reached Wakefield states they intend to only present a petition at the door of the House of Commons.

SOVIET NOTE ON NEUTRALITY

Suggested Control Duty By Navies

London, Oct. 14.

Soviet Russia's latest note to the London Committee of Non-Intervention in Spain, following the charges of breaches of neutrality on the part of Portugal, Germany and Italy, calls for the immediate establishment of a system of control on Portuguese ports as the least effort that can be made to safeguard the neutrality agreement. Control of these ports was a most urgent necessity, the note asserted.

Russia suggests the British or French navies, or both of them together, should be entrusted with carrying out this control duty.

The Russian Government asks that its suggestion be discussed at the next session of the Non-Intervention Committee, which will be convened without delay.

STRONGER THAN EVER BEFORE

FRANK STATEMENTS BY BRITAIN

Adequate Defences To Preserve Peace

London, October 15.

Britain's need for strong defences to preserve peace and to protect her freedom was emphasised in speeches last night by three Cabinet Ministers. The Foreign Secretary, Mr. Anthony Eden at Sheffield declared that strengthening of forces would not be used to accompany diplomatic proposals with threats. Its usefulness would lie in the fact that Europe may be convinced that Britain was strong enough to play her part to keep peace and that violent courses could be met with firm resistance.

The War Minister, Mr. Duff Cooper said it had been decided to make Britain as strong as if not stronger than ever before. The blessings the British people enjoyed could not be maintained unless they were prepared to defend them.

The Minister for Co-ordination of Defence Services, Sir Thomas Inskip at Watford described the progress with defences against attack by air. He said at least 10,000 officers and men were needed before the anti-aircraft defence unit for the southern area was adequately manned. Similar conversion of Territorial Battalions and formations was being undertaken for protection of the Midlands and Northern England. They would be equipped with the latest and most powerful searchlights and anti-aircraft guns.

NAVY EFFICIENCY

Mr. Winston Churchill also spoke last night on the defence question. The British Navy, he said, was in a high state of efficiency and was capable of coping with any European menace. He wished he could feel the same sense of security about the Air Force.

He would like also to see Britain's small Army and Territorial Force organised to a far higher pitch than at present contemplated.

MR. EDEN'S APPEAL

London, Oct. 14.

In a speech at Sheffield to-night, the Foreign Secretary, Mr. Anthony Eden, said there existed among the British people a very general and widespread feeling of distrust for those extreme political doctrines which were being preached and fostered in different forms in different countries. Accompanying this distrust for extremes there was an increased appreciation of and increased attachment to the free institutions which they had inherited from their fathers and which were an expression of British life and character.

There was no wish to quarrel with others who had preferred to adopt different systems of Government. That was their own affair. But it was the affair of the British people, and very much their affair, that they should not part with their own methods or weaken in loyalty to their own institutions.

In the midst of all the turmoil of present-day Europe the British might be excused for observing with some pride that the machinery of constitutional Government continued to work smoothly and that freedom of person and of thought was respected and preserved.

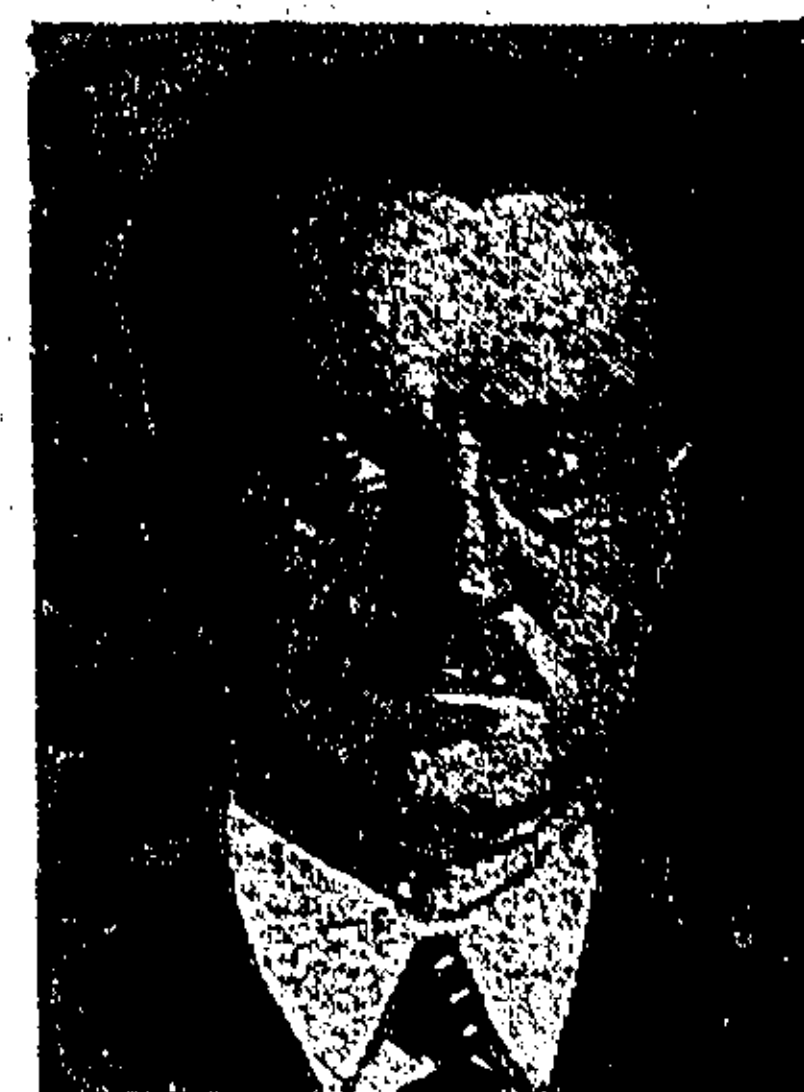

SERVICE TO STATE

Mr. Eden added: "In a world in which national prestige is worshipped as a golden calf, I trust that we shall take as the standard of our own prestige as a nation our ability to combine tolerance and personal freedom with strong and effective government."

British people would show as great a readiness to serve the State, when the State existed for the people as when the people existed for the State, and would exert every effort of mind and body to preserve the legacy of mind and body to preserve the legacy of tradition and opportunity which had come down to them, and strive with persistence for its wider and fuller development. Close attachment to their own institutions Mr. Eden said, did not imply any attitude of detachment from the affairs of Europeans. Even if that were desirable, it was not possible. Britain had always played a part in Europe, and would continue to do so.

SPANISH CRISIS

The Foreign Secretary then turned to the Spanish crisis, and, after describing the origins of the non-intervention agreement and the reasons why the British Government had so strongly supported the French Government's initiative, referred to criticisms which were being directed against the agreement, and said it is even being suggested that the time had come to give up this effort. His Majesty's Government did not share that view. The impatience revealed in some quarters at the slowness of the International Committee method and its work had not been balanced by the productraint. Their endeavour must therefore be to reduce the temperature. That task, however, became steadily more difficult in Europe where partisan feeling was kept at fever heat. The nations had preoccupations enough.

Let them beware of adding to them the bitterness of conflict of creeds. No conflicts had brought greater suffering to Europe in the past centuries, and there were no more tragic pages in all its history than those that recorded them. In concluding his appeal for national unity behind British leadership in international affairs, Mr. Eden declared: "I believe the time will come—and it may not be far distant—when this nation, strong of arm and strong of purpose, will be able to turn the scales on the side of peace and freedom."

GOLF AT HOME

Annual Match At St. Andrews

The annual match between sides raised by the Captain of the Royal and Ancient Club and from the united forces of the Town Clubs was fought out recently over the Old Course at St. Andrews with all the accustomed fury and fun, and in the end the Captain's team won, but a little to its surprise, by narrow margin of 19 matches to 17, with one match halved.

Alas! the Royal and Ancient were not so strong in numbers as was hoped, and several town alliances thirst for blood had perforce to remain unslaked. On the other hand, many an old and cherished battle was refought, both on the links and in the club house. Chief among them the meeting between A. Constable and J. Suttle, of the Town, and Colonel A. R. MacCallan and Major R. Creyke resulted in a double victory for the Captain's champions. The weather was perfect for the occasion, a typical autumn day with a brisk north-easterly wind and bright spells of sunshine.

SOME KEEN ENCOUNTERS

With 37 separate battles an epic would be needed to tell the full story. Therefore the outstanding events can only be recorded. Of these the most important was the meeting between the brothers Ayton, Lawrie, and Davie, distinguished sons of a famous father: C. F. H. Tolley and Major W. H. H. Aitken. This took a large gallery, presided over by a gigantic and red-rosetted steward, and a very fine match there was. In the end the Captain's pair won at the Road Hole. The Lieutenant-Colonel, Ingalls and Lieutenant-Colonel J. B. Mellor beat J. Anderson, Jun., and A. Gordon at the same point, after some quite astonishing figures. Another tried combination to win was that of the brothers Blackwell, Sir Ernley and Walter, who proved altogether too good for T. S. Lockie and D. B. Anderson, and that must suffice for the Captain's team.

For the town L. Auchterlonie, Jun., and D. H. Brown beat R. H. de Montmorency and Commander T. S. Thomson at the Road, and R. H. Henri and D. K. Brown, with 2's at each of the short holes, a 3 at the 12th, and a string of 4's, including the "Long Hole" and the Road, disposed of A. C. M. Munro and Sir Guy Campbell.

GREAT DAYS IN THE ARGENTINE

Rugby Team's Return

Looking very fit, the Rugby Union Touring Party landed at Tilbury recently, having thoroughly enjoyed their trip. All had many tales to tell of their experiences and of Argentina's grand hospitality, writes H.B.T.W. in the "Morning Post."

In order to clear up any doubt about their reception on arrival, it is perhaps best just to state the affair as explained by their very popular manager, F. D. Prentice. Briefly, they are these: They were taken to a residential club named the Belgrano. Here it was found that the accommodation provided was somewhat limited, the immediate result being that many Argentine residents at once volunteered to go elsewhere. Naturally Prentice would not hear of such a thing, and accordingly the party was installed in the City Hotel. Daily they travelled for training to the Belgrano Club, so it is quite clear that there was no friction of any kind.

Throughout the whole of their stay they won golden opinions wherever they went, as witness the letter sent to them by Sir Neville Henderson, British Ambassador in Buenos Aires, thanking Prentice and his party for the way in which they had upheld the traditions of British sport both on and off the field. On all sides came great appreciation of Gadeney's captaincy.

399 POINTS TO 12

Altogether they played 10 matches in the Argentine, winning them all, and scoring 399 points to 12, this 12 being made up of 2 penalty goals and 2 tries. On the way home they stopped at Rio de Janeiro where they played the locals by 90 points to nil in a very easy game; but they were, sometimes hard put to it in the Argentine, especially forward. Indeed, they found these packs, no doubt having benefited considerably from the South Africans' visit in 1932, both robust and tenacious opponents, but apparently the outsiders were less impressive, having little idea of constructive or cohesive play in attack. Considerable praise, however, was expressed for the general all-round

RUGBY FOOTBALL

Matches Arranged For To-morrow

LOCAL SEASON OPENS

The Rugby Football season will open on Saturday with two matches on the Club ground at Happy Valley. The first game will be the Club "A" XV v. an Army side commencing at 3.15 p.m., which will be followed at 4.30 p.m. by the Club 1st XV v. the Navy.

The Navy, Army and Club have now held their trial games and each can boast of some promising new blood. There are several players in each of the teams who have not previously appeared on the Rugby Football grounds of Hong Kong, who will increase the pace of the game and will add to the interest of the fixtures to be played this season. It is believed that the Navy will be fielding a strong side throughout the season and the Army are certain to make as good a showing as last year, as the Royal Welch Fusiliers, who can themselves field a good battalion side, are still on the station and will again provide the nucleus of a promising side.

The Club has had an influx of new members, with the result that the playing membership of the Rugby Section is now higher than it has been for many years. The Triangular Tournament will be a very open competition and followers of Rugby football in the Colony will be sure of seeing some keen and closely fought games in this tournament. An innovation will take place during January, when a side composed of Services and civilians from Singapore will visit the Colony and play a series of games during their visit.

Club members are reminded that correct kit, consisting of Club jerseys, blue shorts and Club stockings must be worn.

The teams for Saturday's games are as follows:—

Club "A" XV:—Curtis, D. Hynes, Griffiths, G. Wilson, Stewart, Lyle, Henderson, Russell, Chambers, Clark, Edwards, Dunnett, Redman, Cumming, and Heath.

Army:—Spr. Boyling (R.E.), Cpl. Shearman (R.E.), Acfm. Edwards (R.A.F.), Pte. Evans (E. Lances), Lieut. Withers (R.A.), Spr. Duncan (R.E.), Lieut. Lincoln (R.U.R.), Lieut. Dayrell (R.A.), Captain Gillespie (R.E.), Spr. Cullinan (R.E.), Pte. Atldoe (R.A.O.C.), Lt. Calvert (R.E.), Lieut. Harrison (E. Lances), Cpl. Harrison (R.E.), Rfm. Beasley (R.U.R.).

Club 1st XV:—Frost, Chadwick, Bidwell, Grieve, van Leeuwen, Butcher, Bonnar, Humphreys, Watson, Holden, Peers, Garrod, Coplin, Walkden, and Munro.

Navy:—Lt. Cotman (Bruce), L. S. A. Mesney (Adventure), Lieut. Harvey (Medway), Surg. Lieut. Benson (Medway) Captain Sub-Lt. Gordon (Adventure), Lieut. Euman (Medway), Lieut. Knox (Medway), Lieut. Robinson (Duchess), Lieut. McKean (Delight), Lieut. Cochrane (Bruce), O. A. Dyer (Adventure), Lt. McBeath (Capetown), Lieut. Hawkins (Medway), Mne. Mumford (Adventure), Lieut. Magniac (Diamond).

defence, and still higher praise for the refereeing, whether done by a British resident or an Argentine.

One of the sides met, the Old Georgians, old boys of the school in Buenos Aires, were almost entirely British, but generally native-born Argentines provided the opposition.

Grounds they found much akin to ours at home; perhaps not quite so much grass as at Twickenham, but, all the same, comparatively soft and well covered.

The crowds, which averaged 12,000-14,000, are described as quite impartial and fairly knowledgeable, but all stress what a pity it was that the first apparent duty of the men against them was to prevent rather than to gain a try.

On the way home they passed the Test cricketers off Ushant, Allen replying to Prentice's wireless message of "Good luck" with greetings and a hope that "we shall equal your record."

Apart from the Internationals, Uren, Unwin, Huskisson, Chadwick and Prescott, seem greatly to have distinguished themselves, and most of the party are fit to go right into the game again. The invalids, Moll, Cooke, and J. A. Waters are well on the way to complete recovery. Waters, who twisted a ligament, stating that he thought he would be able to play about November.

Obviously a visit of great enjoyment, both to guests and to hosts, and a happy party, with no troubles of any kind. What more can be said?

ENGLAND'S CHANCES IN AUSTRALIA

Encouraging Side That Should Do Well

NO MAWKISH PITY TO BE SHOWN

By ELTON EDE

G. O. Allen and his team have sailed for Australia in the Orion. That they carry our good wishes goes without saying, and if they were meeting adversaries only a little less formidable than the Australians, they would also carry our full confidence.

Legitimate criticism of the side takes two forms. In the first place, admirers of cricketers who have been left out say that Gover, Paynter, Nichols, Levett, and Stephenson are unlucky not to have been chosen. One could go up a good debate round Stephenson's inspiring figure, for his partisans would be hard to answer or to shout down—and he might well hope for a place in the Australian side were he qualified to play for them.

TOO MANY BATSMEN?

Secondly, objections can be raised against the make-up of the team as containing too many batsmen and no stock bowler such as Stephenson (both the man; he is becoming a nuisance!).

The answer to all this is, that when one has to face Australia without such proved batsmen as Sutcliffe and Jardine, one must include more than two men in their place, to cover the risk of failure under different conditions. Unless a cricketer is another Hobbs, he has to adapt his methods to Australia as well as to get the atmosphere of the tour, the barrackers, and the Tests.

So four of our younger batsmen are included in the side, all of whom will gain valuable experience.

Jardine's team contained only one stock bowler, Tate, and he did not appear in a single Test Match. Three fast bowlers, Verity and Hammond proved to be enough. Actually, Voce can be relied on to keep an end going for long periods and as he will be carefully nursed for the Tests, we may expect him to give of his best on the big occasion.

COMPARISONS

The best way to judge the strength of Allen's side, however, is to set it against the side that Jardine led to triumph. There are in the present team seven men who played regularly in the 1932-33 Tests: Wyatt, Hammond, Leyland, Ames, Allen, Verity, Voce. There is also the loyal and vocal Duckworth, who may insist on accompanying all Australian tours in future unless his value as a mascot is rudely shattered this time.

The remainder can be tabulated as follows:—

Jardine's Side.	Allen's Side.
Sutcliffe	Barnett and Fagg
Jardine	Hardstaff and
Paynter or	Worthington
Patand	Flashlock
Larwood	Copson and
Mitchell and P.R.	Farnes
Brown	Robins and Sims
Bowes and Tate

There is positively no deception about this, and the comparison is encouraging. Sutcliffe, great batsman that he is, cannot be harder to replace than was Hobbs, and only Larwood remains to be adequately compensated. People who are already picking both Voce and Farnes for the Tests forget that Copson was the first selection, if they turned up his record for the past three seasons—remembering that until lately his health was suspect—they would be impressed.

COPSON'S BOWLING

Copson will not be able, as Larwood did, "to bowl so fast that any length was a good length," and he will find that his short ball is welcomed by Bradman, McCabe, and Co. (who, if they knew any Latin at all, would murmur "ave atque vale" at the sight of it). But he can swing the ball in to the batsman very late, and he can "cut" it as Kennedy used to, so that it turns appreciably from leg and lifts more than stump-high; he is faster, too, than Kennedy ever was.

Our whole problem is to get the Australians out, so the potentialities of our bowlers must be considered first. As G. O. Allen is a fast bowler himself there will be no mawkish pity shown to the Australians, and their batsmen will occasionally have to defend more than their three stumps against our attack. They will certainly face Voce again with mixed feelings, even if there is no Larwood at the other end.

Actually, I have seen Voce bowl them out without Larwood's help—when Nottinghamshire played Australia in 1934. He took eight wickets for 66 runs in 23 overs, and at the close of the innings we said to Arthur Malley, who was in the Press box,

TENNIS MATCH

Kowloon C.C. Beat Shanghai Team

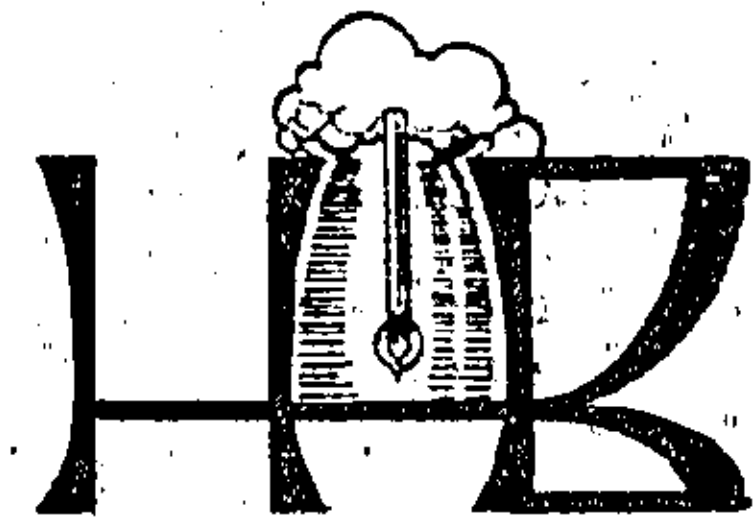

The Kowloon Cricket Club entertained the visiting Shanghai Country Club team on the home courts yesterday afternoon and won by four matches to two.

The full scores were as follows:—
G. Bodiker (K.C.C.) beat J. du Preez (S.C.C.) 6-4, 6-2.
A. E. P. Guest (K.C.C.) beat J. G. Forbes (S.C.C.) 6-4, 6-1.
Mrs. W. H. E. Dowling (K.C.C.) beat Mrs. Kronev 6-2, 6-4.
Mrs. Ovorjets (Shanghai) beat Miss A. Mackenzie 6-0, 6-0.
S. A. Gray and A. Crawford (K.C.C.) beat A. G. Meise and T. H. Figgis 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.
Miss J. Massey and Mrs. T. M. Burton (Shanghai) beat Miss O. Dalziel and Mrs. J. B. McCaw 6-4, 7-5.

DANCE HELD

An enjoyable subscription dinner, followed by a dance, given in honour of the Shanghai visitors, was held at the Kowloon Cricket Club last night.

the umpire—whose very gestures tell one more of the game than the voluble descriptions of some pavilion critics—was praising the beautiful straightness of his play, both forward and back, and predicting great successes for him—"Sunday Times."

£8,000 FOR ASCOT GOLD CUP WINNER

Coronation Year Record

The owner of the winner of the Ascot Gold Cup in the race to be run on June 17 next year will receive nearly £8,000. The total prize-money will exceed £10,000.

This is an increase of £2,250 on previous totals, and is in commemoration of the King's Coronation.

The owner of the winner will receive a cup valued at £500 and £5,000 in cash; the second £1,500, and the third £750.

The winning owner will also receive the whole of the sweepstakes of £100 each. Last June this sweepstake, which varies with the number of entries, amounted to £2,300.

The world's most valuable race is the Futurity Stakes, run at Belmont Park, New York, usually worth nearly £15,000.

Important races run in this country this season were worth:

Derby	£ 9,934
St. Leger	10,554
Two Thousand Guineas	9,449
Eclipse Stakes	8,718
Ascot Gold Cup	6,700

The record prize in this country was the £12,316 received by the late Lord Woolavington when his Coronach won the Eclipse Stakes at Sandown Park in 1926.

TRADE RETURNS

London, Oct. 14.

There was considerable expansion in overseas trade last month as compared both with August and a year ago. Exports of United Kingdom products in September were £38,060,737 as against £35,258,115 in August and £34,098,265 in September last year. Figures for corresponding months were £11,891,528, £8,057,087 and £60,822,113, respectively, and for re-exports £3,854,668, £4,355,909 and £3,810,838. Figures for the first nine months of the year are as follows:—Imports £608,000,761—an increase of £68,568,836 over the first nine months of last year and of £71,102,112 over the corresponding period of 1934; exports £320,092,159—an increase of £8,289,377 over 1935 and of £31,044,312 over 1934; re-exports £45,532,791—an increase of £4,978,899 over 1935 and of £5,858,805 over 1934.—British Wireless.

RAW MATERIAL PROBLEM.

Berlin, Oct. 14.

"We can never renounce the demand that the problem of just distribution of raw materials should be dealt with and solved," declared Count Schwerin von Krosigk, Minister of Finance in a speech to-day.

In this matter lay the key to the handling of the colonial question, he asserted. The settlement of this problem and that of international debt entanglements was a necessary preliminary to the restoration of sound world economy.—Reuter.

BOOKMAKERS GLOOMY

Over Cesarewitch Result

London, Oct. 14.

Only one firm of bookmakers, the famous Duggie Stuart company, welcomed the result of the Cesarewitch which was run at Newmarket to-day in dull and showery weather.

The going, however, was good and suited Fet, the winner, who is owned by Mr. Sydney Freeman, a member of the Duggie Stuart firm, who only purchased the horse a fortnight ago. He bought it for steeplechasing purposes, but the animal showed such vast improvement, including his winning a big race at Nottingham, that he was heavily backed to win the Cesarewitch. Last minute backing sent the horse to the post a third favourite at 10 to 1.

Mr. Freeman, the owner, heard the result of the race by wireless on board the Queen Mary en route to America.

Sir Alfred Butts' Near Relation, starting at 22 to 1, made a wonderful effort to make history by winning the race twice in succession. He was fast catching the lightweight Fet who led most of the distance, and was finally only beaten by a neck.

Greynam (22 to 1) was third a length and a half away and Solar Bear fourth. Hoplite, the 13 to 2 favourite was fifth. The race was run in the time of 3 minutes 53 seconds.—Reuter.

SCOTLAND DEFEATS GERMANY

50,000 See Game In Glasgow

Glasgow, Oct. 14.

Scotland's soccer team to-day defeated Germany by two goals to nil.

They met at Ibrox Park before a crowd of 50,000 in brilliant and breezy weather.

Scotland was represented by Dawson, Rangers; Anderson, Hearts; Cummings and Massie of Aston Villa; Simpson and Brown, Rangers; Delaney, Celtic; Walker, Hearts; Armstrong, Aberdeen; McPhail, Rangers; and Duncan of Derby.

Germany's team was Jakob, Muenzenberg, Munkert, Janes, Goldburner, Kitzinger, Elbern, Gellesch, Siffing, Szepan and Urban.

Scotland had most of the play, cleverly combining in attacks. But Szepan, the outstanding German, instituted many dangerous break-aways, from one of which Siffing netted. The score was disallowed, however, for offside.

Within a few minutes of the interval Delaney headed into Jakob's hands, Duncan struck the post and Armstrong shot wide with the goals helpless. There was no score at half-time.

PLAYER INJURED

In the second half the German forwards shot weakly. They had few opportunities, moreover, and were kept on the defensive most of the time.

In the fiftieth minute of play Siffing hooked a shot and struck Cummings in the head, knocking him out for a few minutes.

In the seventy-fifth minute Armstrong shot strongly and Jakob parried. But the ball rebounded from Delaney into the net.

Delaney scored a forceful drive in the eightieth minute, but was hurt in the process, colliding with Jakob at full speed.—Reuter.

GOLF CHAMPIONS LOSE

In Mixed Foursomes Championship

Worpleston, Oct. 14.

In the mixed foursome golf championship here to-day, Miss Pamela Barton, British and American champion, partnered by the English International, Francis Francis, lost by one hole to Mr. and Mrs. Beeson. It was a third round match.

Mr. and Mrs. Beeson won because of accurate approaching and putting.—Reuter.

HOPEI-CHAHAR COUNCIL

Shanghai Banker As Chairman

Peiping, Oct. 15.

Taking on his shoulders the responsibility for equitable promotion of Sino-Japanese economic co-operation in North China, Mr. Li Shih-hao, Shanghai banker, to-day assumed the office of Chairman of the Economic Commission of the Hopei-Chahar Political Council.

Mr. Li pledged himself to promote only those enterprises which would benefit North China without involving any loss of China's national rights. He announced that he will be seeing Lieut.-General Tashiro, Commander-in-Chief of the Japanese garrison in North China in Tientsin on October 18.

The economic development at present under consideration, he said, were cotton growing, reopening of the Lungyen iron mines and construction of a railway between Tsangchow and Shihchichang.

TYPHOID

Five cases of typhoid and one of diphtheria were notified to the local Health authorities on Wednesday.

ALTITUDE RECORD

Another Attempt To Be Made

London, Oct. 15.

Flight-Lieut. Adam has been selected by the Air Ministry to make the next attempt to improve upon the height record set up last month by Squadron Leader F. R. D. Swain.

The attempt will be made within the next fortnight if weather permits.

Flight-Lieut. Adam will use a pressure suit similar to that used by Squadron Leader Swain, but incorporating one or two improvements, including means which is hoped will prevent the recurrence of fogging of the helmet window.

He will fly the same machine with an air-cooled engine.

British Wireless.

TYPHOON WARNINGS

The following typhoon warning telegrams were despatched from Manila at 3.15 p.m. yesterday through the American Consulate General:

Typhoon in about 128 degrees Long. E. and 21 degrees Lat. N., recurring northeastward.

Typhoon in about 137 degrees Long. E. and 16 degrees Lat. N., moving West.

PENSIVE

When Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Eccles were in pensive mood at Happy Valley last Saturday, the eye of the camera caught them.

More Happy Valley pictures will appear in the "Daily Press" to-morrow.

Copies of these photographs can be obtained by ordering from the city office of the "Daily Press," Marina House, Queen's Road.

HINDU-MOSLEM RIOTING

Religious Feud In Bombay

Bombay, Oct. 15.

Rioting has broken out in the Byculla area arising from the recent tension over construction of a Hindu temple in proximity to the mosque on which work began to-day.

The police were obliged to carry out a number of baton charges. There have been several casualties so far, three of which are stabbing cases.

Excitement is growing and looting carrying armed police are patrolling the streets to prevent further Hindu and Moslem clashes.

Reuter.

CASUALTY LIST

Bombay, Oct. 15.

Two persons were killed and sixty injured, the latter including three British deputy inspectors of police and five constables.

Fifty arrests have been made. Stabbing and stone-throwing continue. The police are checking a mass outbreak by means of armed patrols.
